Re: Music for Middlesex

Dear Bob and Peter,

I wanted to take a moment to thank both of you for making this year's Music for Middlesex night an occasion for my friends and I to remember. All of us thoroughly enjoyed ourselves, and I know I speak for all of us when I say that we appreciate and applaud your efforts to assist those less fortunate than ourselves. Personally, the opportunity to (finally) meet James Montgomery, Steve Tyler and others was memorable, as was the chance to see acquaintances Joyce Sampson and John Sullivan perform onstage. And Peter – it is always great to watch you play. You get better every time I see you - which is scary because you are already way too talented. Perhaps you'd share a bit of that talent with a wanna-be rock and roll star.

Please allow me to acknowledge some of my friends and associates who contributed either money or services to this year's event.
